MIGHTY OFFENSE LAUNCHED BY RUSSIA AS ALLIES SQUEEZE AXIS IN TUNISIA

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE
Dream of it! Think of it! Sixty pheasants in the air at one time with hunters banging away at them from two sides!
This is what happened on a large farm in Fayette County on the opening day of the hunting season, and the large number of pheasants really got some of the nimrods excited, according to my informant.
It seems that one group of hunters flushed a large number of the birds and while they were still in the air, another party started a flock into the air from another direction. The air was full of birds for a few minutes.
Most of the hunters got at least one cock pheasant out of the big number in the air.
Incidentally the farmer who owns the land is not anxious to have his name mentioned because the permits only intimate friends to hunt upon his land.
Speaking of hunting stories, I am reminded of the big flock of wild geese that, years ago, found nightly shelter on what was then the Humphrey Jones farm three miles east of this city. They remained throughout the winter.
Presence of the flock of 75 to 100 geese was known throughout the neighborhood, and many times men with guns sought to slip up on the geese and make a kill, but so far as I know they were never able to get close enough to shoot a single fowl.
One man tried persistently to hide near where the big birds usually spent the night, but usually the old gander heading the flock sensed his presence and kept his flock at a safe distance.
I have not heard of the flock in recent years, but they spent several years in the Jones land area before disappearing.

A beautiful Albino pheasant, marked with small specks of black on its breast, was killed the opening day of the season Friday, by Delbert (Red) Harper, Jr., 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Harper of the Wilmington Road. The bird was shot on the W. C. Bush farm near Jasper Mills. The sides of the bird's head was brilliant red.
This Albino pheasant had been seen in that vicinity for the past two or three days, and young Harper was waiting for the season to open.
Delbert Harper, Sr., was in Washington C. H. Saturday trying to find someone to mount it and it was the center of attraction on Court Street.

ASYLUM TRAGEDY BLAME IS FIXED

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Two cooks in the Oregon State Hospital for the Insane, where 47 inmates died last week after a dinner of poisoned scrambled eggs, were detained by police today.
District Attorney Miller Hayden said he was preparing a charge of involuntary manslaughter against A. B. McKillop, assistant cook, and a charge of obstructing justice against Mrs. Mary O'Hare, chief cook.
Hayden gave this account of the tragedy, which made more than 400 inmates ill:
McKillop, in violation of the institution's rules, sent an inmate to the basement to get powdered milk in which to mix the eggs. The inmate, George A. Nosen, 27, Medford, Ore., who entered the asylum voluntarily, dipped into the wrong storage can and brought back six pounds of roach powder.
McKillop unsuspectingly mixed the roach powder, similar in appearance to powdered milk, with the eggs.
The cooks discovered Nosen's error after the inmates became ill, but withheld their knowledge until Saturday night, when they broke down under questioning, Hayden added.

Japs Battered by Air Attacks

ALLIED FORCES CLOSING TRAP ON NEW GUINEA

Destroyer Apparently Trying To Bring Reinforcements
Is Sent to Bottom

(By The Associated Press)
A large Japanese ship, reported to be either an aircraft carrier or a 12,000 to 15,000-ton transport, was sunk yesterday by American Sky-drivers of the China Command in a terrific attack upon Haiphong, French Indo-China, climaxing a week end in which Allied air power proved its rising might in attacks from Burma to the Yank-tze Valley.
Off the northeast coast of New Guinea, American and Australian airmen sank another Japanese Destroyer apparently trying to land reinforcements for the Japanese troops who have been backed to the beaches of Buna and Gona by Allied jungle fighters steadily closing a death trap upon the invaders.
The Haiphong raid was announced today in a communique from the headquarters of Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the China air task force. It said immense fires enveloped the entire waterfront of the port through which the Japanese are believed to be sending supplies inland for an attack upon Yunnan province, China from Indo-China and Burma.
Yesterday and again last night British bombers blasted the Japanese-held port of Ak-yab across the Bay of Bengal from Calcutta, and attacked airfields and river steamers elsewhere in Burma.
The attacks followed up other weekend assaults in which the largest squadron of United States bombers ever sent into the air from Indian bases joined the RAF in heavy bombings of Rangoon, Mandalay and Toungoo without the loss of a plane.
Chinese bombing crews attacked the Yangtze river port of Shasi in Hupeh Province, and Shayang on the Han River 35 miles to the northeast without encountering any Japanese aerial opposition.
In New Guinea the Japanese were kept under incessant aerial attack as they made their desperate last stand on the beaches.
American and Australian troops seized a landing strip and carried the attack on to the Buna Mission, a mile from the

While on a bombing trip over Benghazi, Libya, this American B-24 bomber met a terrific amount of anti-aircraft fire. The shells tore away the left aileron, severed two control cables, and punctured the plane with two hundred holes. Capt. Harold W. Edmonds, the pilot, points to some of the holes after the ship arrived at her base, almost a thousand miles from Benghazi.

HITLER'S HORDE PUT TO FLIGHT AS REDS CLOSING BLOODY TRAP, WITH DRIVE FROM STALINGRAD

Allies Launch Savage Attack on Axis-held Tunis and Bizerte
While Rommel's Remnant, Chased by British, Race Across Desert—French Stand Shoulder to Shoulder with Allies

(By The Associated Press)
Russian armies, striking in Stalingrad's avenging hour, surged deeper into German positions on two sides of the ruined Volga city in a mighty offensive which has reached the Don bend 50 miles west of Stalingrad, cost the Nazis more than 28,000 dead and captured, and dynamited Hitler's hopes of a winter line on the Volga.
On the second front in North Africa, American, British and French forces were closing the trap on Axis troops in Bizerte and Tunis, while the British Eighth Army smashed Marshal Rommel's rear guard back from Agedabia and pursued them on toward El Aghelia, 70 miles away.

Red Drive Threatens To Trap Nazis at Stalingrad

The mighty Red Army counter-offensive sprung from the north-west and south of Stalingrad has put thousands of Germans to rout, the Russians reported today, and the Nazi forces which have besieged the Volga city vainly for three bloody months were pictured as facing disastrous encirclement.

Broken German divisions were declared fleeing across the frosty steppes before the surge of Russian infantrymen, guns and tanks in the greatest Soviet offensive of the year, adding new casualties to the 28,000 Nazis reported killed and captured in the past few days.

A mid-day communique said that overnight the Russians "continued to move forward" in the twin drives announced last night in a special war bulletin.

This was the pattern of the pincers attack: German holding positions northwest of Stalingrad were battered for an hour in a sudden, terrific artillery barrage, and Russian tanks and riflemen smashed through the Nazi trench lines on an 18-mile-wide front.

In three days, the Red Army reached and occupied Kalach, on the east bank of the Don River 50 miles west of Stalingrad, and the rail station of Krivomuzginskaya (Sovetsk), a few miles southeast of Kalach.

A second spearhead of Marshal Secon Timoshenko's army blasted its way through a 13-mile wide gap in the German lines south of Stalingrad and won positions astride a railway at Abganerovo, 45 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

German Losses Mount as Reds Continue Slaughter

These two jaws of the Russian trap thus were within 50 miles of closing behind Stalingrad and biting off the gains of the costliest weeks of Hitler's 1942 offensive.

The Russians placed German losses from the Russian attacks at some 15,000 killed and more than 13,000 captured, with the toll still mounting.

Seven enemy divisions, including one tank division, were reported "completely routed" and heavy losses were said to have been inflicted upon seven other infantry divisions, two tank divisions and two motorized infantry divisions.

Russian artillery, it was reported, destroyed seven enemy strong points in the Nalchik area of the Caucasus and dispersed two companies of infantry.

On the northwestern front, Red Army troops took a fortified point from the Germans and killed about 400 soldiers while at Leningrad snipers killed 490 more in two days of fighting, the communique said.

The main Russian attack was being delivered where the Russians have suffered most this year, on the plains outside Stalingrad.

Allies Launch Big Attack on Tunis and Bizerte

The British First Army, with American and French support, was reported today to have launched a big attack against the German-Italian positions in the defense perimeter of Bizerte and Tunis where Marshal Erwin Rommel, one-time German master of African desert warfare, was said to be in command with perhaps a part of his Africa Corps.

The radio in Allied-held Morocco said prisoners already had been brought in as a result of the British attack which the Allies have been preparing for a week, and Berlin broadcasts hinted that Rommel had transferred his headquarters and perhaps some of his Libyan forces to Tunisia.

Previously the British and American forces which had streamed across North Africa for hundreds of miles in a race to get control of Tunisia's middle Mediterranean bases were reported to have tested the defenses in the northern tip of the French Protectorate and radio Morocco quoted an Allied spokesman as saying their attacks were growing in violence.

The broadcast said that one clash occurred 22 miles south of the coast and that the engagement "remained indecisive."

Italians were well established with a strong air force at Bizerte and Tunis and it was apparent that the Axis was going to make COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The state division of conservation and natural resources said today that the value of furs taken by Ohio trappers during the winter of 1941-42 totaled $1,973,399. The pelts were obtained from 1,157,647 fur animals.

Hitler Gets Scared; Defenses Are Being Built for Germany

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Moscow radio broadcast a Tass Dispatch today reporting that German Gestapo agents had arrived at all Italian ports on the Adriatic and were feverishly building coastal fortifications.

The Soviet News Agency said the greatest activity was on the heel of the "Italian Boot" along Otranto Strait, which connects the Adriatic and the Mediterranean. Traffic in this area, lying opposite Albania, was reported under restriction.

This was among a crop of Continental reports of growing apprehension and sagging morale caused in Italy by Allied successes in North Africa.
One account from Turkey said reports received by diplomatic sources told of the dispatch of 60,000 German "tourists"—all men of military age—to Italy in the last three months to bolster Italian morale.
A Balkan source said the Germans were building large fortifications along the Italian-Austrian frontier as a sort of "second line" of defense.
From Stockholm, the London Sunday-Dispatch received a report saying Premier Mussolini had sent his right-hand man, Aldo Vidussoni, secretary of the Fascist party, to inspect defenses on the island of Sicily "in view of the turn the fighting has taken."
"Italian troops are being rushed to strengthen the island's coastal defenses," said this account. "Anti-aircraft guns are being hurried from factories at Turin, Milan and other industrial cities in the north to ward off ex-

Tubeless Tire Works First Tests Indicate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Indication that the tubeless tire will work was reported today by William R. Boyd, Jr., chairman of the petroleum industry war council, on the basis of "the first few scattered reports" on a widespread test of the invention.
Tests on the wheels of more than 1,000 oil-company cars over the country so far "have revealed nothing to disprove the statements made by the discoverer," John B. McGay of Tulsa, Okla., Boyd said.
The tubeless tire may add more than 200,000 tons of high grade rubber to the country's scrap rubber stockpile, Boyd said, in the form of existing inner tubes. The council will not make its final report until the end of the tests about the end of December, he said.
Conversion to the tubeless tire, Boyd said, is "extremely simple," the only new part required being a truck valve stem assembly with washer, to replace the stem on

Sidelights on the War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The United States has reached a satisfactory agreement with Martinique, Secretary of State Hull said today, as a result of which there is not likely to be any necessity for American occupation of the French Caribbean possession.

BERLIN, (from German broadcasts), Nov. 23.—(AP)—Marcel Deat, leader of a French political party favoring collaboration with the Nazis, said today that "France is in a state of war with Great Britain and the United States," the Berlin radio reported.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Belgian News Agency Inbel announced today that another contingent of Belgian Colonial troops had landed at a West African port.

Butter Stocks Frozen To Check War Needs

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—For all practical purposes nearly all cold storage butter supplies held in 35 market centers temporarily are frozen, dairy traders said today, although the government freeze order applied to only 50 percent of such stocks.
Dealers pointed out that warehouse holdings in 10 representative cities, for example, were at a peak November 6 when stocks were close to 45,000,000 pounds. Since that time, they said, however, constant withdrawals brought supplies down to slightly more than 28,000,000 pounds last Saturday.
On the basis of the government's order, they said, these cities must earmark half of their November 6 holdings, or 22,500,000 pounds, for the government. While this amount is only 50 percent of November 6 supplies, it is very close to the 28,000,000 pounds now on hand.
Although WPB officials depreciated the possibility of rationing to consumers, dairy trad-

BAN ON HOARDING MAY BE NECESSARY

More Rationing Said To Be Only Alternative

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Over-buying of food products by householders fearful of future hoarding programs may force the government into adopting anti-hoarding regulations.
An official disclosed today that "panic-buying" of foods and other commodities has become widespread enough to give the Office of Price Administration concern.
The hysteria seems to be getting near the point where we are forced to consider the rationing of things that otherwise wouldn't have to be rationed," explained the federal official, who declined the use of his name.

Germany Blasted Again By Strong Allied Force

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The German industrial and communications center of Stuttgart was attacked last night by a strong force of British bombers, and the Air Ministry said that low-level observation showed that the results were good.
"Ten of our bombers are missing," the ministry said.
Fighter command aircraft were reported to have attacked freight trains in northern France and fired an Axis supply ship in the English Channel, further blows against Adolf Hitler's crippled transport system.
The Berlin radio quoted a DNB dispatch which said incendiary bombs had caused slight damage in one town of southern Germany, but did not identify the target.
The capital of Wuertemberg Province, Stuttgart lies approximately 400 miles southeast of Dover. A center of aviation and electrical industries, it was attacked three nights in succession by the RAF last May.
Submarine and aircraft engine plants are located at Stuttgart. The city is also an important railway junction.
It was the first RAF raid upon Germany since the night of Nov. 9, when Hamburg and other places in northwestern reaches of the Reich were attacked.

Sixth Title
By Bears Is Now Sought

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The Chicago Bears will become the only team in major professional football history to win six national championships if they beat the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital, Dec. 13.

The Bruins won the Western Division title yesterday by giving the Detroit Lions their 10th straight defeat, 42 to 0—worst blanking of the season—while the New York Giants and Green Bay tied 21-all, removing any mathematical chance the Packers cherished of catching up. Washington moved in by dunking the Dodgers of Brooklyn 23 to 3 and will close its regular schedule at Detroit this Sunday.

Unbeaten in 22 consecutive games and averaging more than 34 points in each of nine straight league triumphs this fall, the Bears return to Wrigley Field to meet the Cleveland Rams, winding up the following week against the Chicago Cardinals.

Other Sunday contests send the Cards to New York, Green Bay to Philadelphia and Brooklyn to Pittsburgh.

One More Game
Between UC and Perfect Season

Ohio wraps up its 1942 gridiron season this week with Cincinnati's Bearcats needing only a win over weak Miami to become the only unbeaten or untied team in All-State competition.

Cincinnati has lost only two games, one to Georgia the other to Tennessee. Ohio Northern, the Ohio Conference champion, lost its only game to Albion of Michigan, but was tied by Wittenberg.

The Cincinnati-Miami clash is one of five Thanksgiving Day tilts. Other games that day are: Ohio U. at Dayton, John Carroll at Akron, Case at Western Reserve and Wilberforce at West Virginia State.

Ohio State winds up collegiate football play for the state with its Saturday game against the Iowa Seahawks here.

In Saturday games, Ohio Wesleyan upset an overconfident Western Reserve 13 to 1 and Denison beat Wittenberg, 24 to 6 in the final Ohio Conference game. Other Scores: Ohio State 21, Michigan 7; Cincinnati 9, Xavier 0; Wooster 24, Wright-Patterson 13; Oberlin 26, Earlham 13; Bowling Green 19, Grosse Ile Navy 7; Fort Knox 7, Youngstown 0.

Wolverines Autograph Program For Washington C. H. Boy After Game in Columbus Saturday

Probably there was no happier boy in the huge stadium at Ohio State University late Saturday afternoon than little Billy Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Condon Campbell of Washington C. H., who with his father and a friend attended the Ohio State-Michigan game.

Although somewhat disappointed over the failure of Michigan, his favorite of all teams, to win, Billy made his way to the dressing rooms of the Michigan team after the game and when the members of the squad emerged he accosted Kennedy, a Michigan end, who had played under his uncle, Charles Campbell while the latter was coach at Van Wert High School, where Kennedy had been a star footballer. Billy told Kennedy who he was and the big Michigan boy, who showed unmistakable evidence of being somewhat depressed after Ohio State's great victory, cordially greeted young Campbell and also the boy's father. He wanted to know the address of his old coach, Charles Campbell, who left a lucrative high school coaching job in Cleveland to join the Air Corps of the U. S. Navy, so that he could write him.

Kennedy readily autographed his picture on the game program which Billy was carrying when the lad asked him if he would.

and then to Billy's delight called to some of the other Michigan players who were leaving the dressing room, introduced Billy and his father and asked them to autograph Billy's program also. The boys all beamed upon the youngster and gladly consented. When Michigan's great star half-back, Tommy Kuzma, young Campbell's particular hero, smilingly wrote his name, Billy's rapture knew no bounds. Others who signed were Julius Frank, Robinson, another star Michigan back, Bob Chappius, the forward passing wizard, and one or two others.

All the Michigan players showed their disappointment over the game's result but they praised the Ohio team and admitted "it was Ohio's day."

Needless to say the program on which these players wrote their names, will remain one of Billy Campbell's most treasured possessions. "I'm sure going to put that in my scrapbook," Billy said as he carefully tucked the program away in an inside pocket.

It was a kindly gesture which the Michigan boys made toward this young chap who had been shyly worshipping them from a distance and their good sportsmanship made a real impression on this little fellow who is one of the most ardent sport fans in all Washington C. H. He has been attending football games since he was three years old when he could barely toddle at his father's side. And incidentally Billy is no mean athlete for his age, either. He takes part in all games and although only in the sixth grade he is practicing football almost religiously. Who knows but what this boy may be one of the future Greats in the football world and will have the opportunity to bestow upon some other boy the same encouraging courtesy which the Michigan players showed to him.

Massillon Tigers Handed Defeat by Canton Bulldogs

CANTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Heroes at Canton McKinley High School today are Tony Dominick and Jack Crider, halfbacks who sparked the Bulldogs to a 35-0 victory over Massillon Washington High, the Tigers' first defeat in 53 consecutive games. The pair scored four of Canton's five touchdowns at Massillon Saturday. The Tigers last were beaten by New Castle, Pa., 7-0 in 1937. Canton defeated Massillon 21-6 in 1934, but the New Castle upset and two ties by Mansfield High were the only blemishes on Massillon's record in 94 games.

Teamwork and Precision Give Buck Championship

By JOHN COLBURN
COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—A new theory of football brought to Ohio State by Paul Brown, former high school coach, today makes the Bucks Western Conference champions and topnotchers nationally.

H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, Michigan mentor and veteran of 20 years in the collegiate coaching field, saw his powerful Wolverines bow to Ohio 21 to 7 Saturday, then paid this tribute to the scarlet and gray gridders:

"They're great. They have speed and they're beautifully coached; yes, beautifully coached."

From the Wily Crisler this was a great compliment to Brown's theory of football—that a perfectly conditioned team able to execute plays with speed and precision can be beaten only by a vastly superior eleven.

"Precision Paul," as Brown is known in this football hotbed, also stresses team work, rather than individual performance. Saturday's championship triumph over Michigan, he said, was a team victory.

It also was an exhibition of diversified offense. When Ohio's famed ground attack was stopped by a great Michigan line, the Bucks struck through the air eight times with a slippery ball. Six passes were complete. Three passes went for touchdowns. Each was designed in advance as a scoring play. Their success was the result of precision execution.

Brown came to the Big Ten in 1941 and last year his team lost only to Northwestern and tied a superior Michigan team.

This year, Ohio bowed to Wisconsin 17 to 7—"they played 110 percent ball that day and we were only going 90 percent," said Brown—and has won eight games. Saturday the Bucks tackled Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seahawks here.

Brown came to Ohio State from Massillon, O., high school, which he piloted to scholastic gridiron greatness. But while he was winning his first "big time" championship Saturday, Massillon lost its first football game in 53 contests extending back to 1937.

Michigan Saturday wasn't the perfectly functioning team that beat Notre Dame 32 to 20 the week before, but the alert Bucks so applied their speed that they gave the Wolverines hardly a chance.

The Ohio win gave the Bucks their fifth conference championship and the second since 1939. In 1935, they shared the title. It also was their first win over Michigan since 1937.

Charles Csuri of Cleveland, Ohio's all-America tackle candidate, gave Ohio the break it needed for the first score by blocking a punt.

"Everyone was superb, just superb," said Brown.

"George Lynn's thinking and blocking stand out in my mind as a feature of the game. Bob Shaw did a great job. Paul Sarringhaus was plain swell. Gene Fekete and Csuri were sound and solid."

Football Season Is Not Yet Over But Edge Dulled

By AUSTIN BEALMER
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(AP)—With the Big Ten championship tucked away by Ohio State and the Georgia Bulldogs tucked away by Auburn, this dizzy football season wobbles toward the close this week, but whatever happens will be strictly anti-climatic.

Conference championships still are to be decided in many of the major loops, however.

In spite of what happened last Saturday, a lot of folks are going to be more than slightly interested in the southern headliner between unbeaten, untied Georgia Tech and a Georgia team that had its dreams of a perfect season and a Rose Bowl bid turned into a 27-13 nightmare by Auburn.

The two teams meet at Athens Saturday and Georgia Tech, winner of eight straight games, could wrap up the Southern Conference title as well as a bowl engagement by winning.

Tennessee meets Vanderbilt in another Southeastern Conference game while Alabama tackles Georgia Pre-Flight.

The Thanksgiving Day card finds Tulane engaging L. S. U., South Carolina meeting Wake Forest and William and Mary, beaten for the first time by the North Carolina Pre-Flighters, 14-0.

The season ended for the Big Ten last week, so far as championships are concerned, when Ohio State toppled Michigan, 21-7, but one Loop tilt remains to be played this week and other teams have date with service clubs. Michigan and Iowa ring down the Conference curtain Saturday.

At the same time Ohio State will tangle with the Iowa Pre-Flighters, Indiana will meet Fort Knox and Illinois will play Camp Grant. Northwestern plays Great Lakes. Naval Thursday. Notre Dame journeys to Southern California for their annual intersectional joust Saturday. Wisconsin's 20-6 triumph over Minnesota Saturday was the finale for both clubs.

THEY MIGHT BE ALIVE TODAY
Admiral Moreell, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks, in an address to the American Federation of Labor convention at Toronto, put the American workmen—and labor leaders—squarely on the spot.
Among other things, he told the workers that "you cannot have your cake and eat it too. You exist by virtue of the fact that this is a democratic country and, therefore, you have to preserve and protect democratic institutions. When the country is in peril, as it is today, all rules must be relaxed or waived completely. It is just as sensible for you fellows to take the position that a brick mason cannot, in time of emergency, help out with the placing of a steel beam, as it is for a marine to take the position that, because he is trained as a machine gunner, he cannot use a rifle or unload a landing boat. What a hell of a war this would be if such rules were applied to the boys on the firing line."
"... no one can live without labor, but they certainly can live without labor unions. They are living without them in Germany and in Italy, and in Japan... and they will damn well live without them here if all of you don't get in there and pitch."

Here are the sentiments of millions of Americans. They are written on the wall in the blood of American soldiers, sailors and airmen who have died because strikes and slowdowns in vital industries reduced our production of the machines of war—men who would have been living today had they received a new plane, a tank, a gun.

THE WILL AND ABILITY TO WIN
There are many people who though handicapped, in one way or another, have become famous. Notable among these are authors, musicians, and scientists whose works will live through the years. They are outstanding individuals whose talents, often developed under the most severe handicaps, have endeared themselves to the public.
But in industry, thousands of these handicapped people are turning out war materials and doing everything they can to help win the war. A man in one city, who works in a wheel chair was one of those who recently received an Army and Navy reward emblem. A man blind in one eye operates an engine lathe in a machine tool plant in New York. In many plants blind people, both men and women, are doing remarkable work on precision instruments. On an assembly line in an Ohio cartridge factory there are many crippled workers and deaf people who actually have an advantage in noisy plants.
Right now, industry needs all the

Washington at a Glance
By Charles P. Stewart
WASHINGTON — Such lawmakers as Representative Joseph W. Martin, Republican leader in the lower congressional chamber, and Melvin J. Maas, another Republican, who happens to be a Marine Corps reserve colonel and senior G. O. P. member of the representatives' naval affairs committee, undoubtedly believe in their argument that we'd greatly improve our wartime efficiency by compacting all our vast multiplicity of emergency agencies into one organization, under a single dictatorship.
However, it develops that Capitol Hill and the White House disagree pretty widely as to which of 'em should be put in charge of this centralized management.
It's a case of jealousy as between the legislators and the executive mansion. The president refuses to recognize that he was defeated on last election day, because, although the Republicans made big gains, he still has a Democratic congressional majority—greatly shriveled but, nevertheless, Democratically labelled.
The Republican contention is that the November result at the polls, without giving their party anything but increased minorities in both of Washington's legislative chambers, did materially improve their status, in a fashion to appeal materially to public opinion.

Furthermore, it's reckoned as no certainty that President Roosevelt and his chief lieutenant can control their full nominal Democratic voting strength in the Capitol's two chambers.
Pre-War Isolationists
It isn't to be forgotten that quite a few Democratic statesmen were identified with the pre-war isolationist group and that the administrationists tried to beat 'em for renomination and maybe to beat 'em with pro-war outright Republicans.
These chaps are receding now, with all the jobs they can take at the administration. They can no longer be anti-interventionists to be sure, but they can say that the administration is bungling its job, and they can and are demanding its surrender out of executive hands, into those of a more competent legislature.
The executive answer, of course, is that legislation is the middle name for incompetency. Not only, say White House spokesmen, will such interference distract attention from wartime problems—it'll divert the government's activities into issues of internal politics.
In congress the principal fault is found with Secretaries of War and Navy Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox. Labor Secretary

Attack Tuberculosis as Public Health Problem
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
CHADWICK, in The Modern Attack on Tuberculosis, outlines a program for the eradication of tuberculosis as follows: "First, a medical profession interested in the problem and familiar with modern methods of diagnosis and treatment. Next, complete diagnostic x-ray and laboratory facilities freely available to all physicians in a community and to the health department, regardless of the patient's ability to pay. Third, and equally important, a well-organized active health department with complete family records of all cases, and a public health nursing service capable of teaching preventive measures in the home and maintaining effective contact between patient, doctor, and health department."
Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.
This indicates that tuberculosis is very largely a public health problem, with which conclusion everyone, I think, will agree. A great deal of the work, however, is being done by representatives of the National Tuberculosis Association and this work is financed by the sale of Christmas seals each year. A very small amount of money spent by everyone who is able to buy a few leaves of these seals, and that includes nearly everybody in the United States today, will assure your community of an intelligent attack upon tuberculosis during the coming year.
Remember that during war years the necessity for tuberculosis control increases rather than decreases and the need for funds and for active preventive work is greater than under normal conditions. In Germany the tuberculosis death rate rose from 143 per 100,000 in 1914 to 230 in 1918. In the United States the rate increased from 147 per 100,000 in 1914 to 150 in 1918. Let us see to it that this record is not repeated during the present war if it is possible to prevent such a repetition by buying one dollar's worth of Christmas seals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
J. H. M.: How are the body cells and nerves related?
Answer: I presume you really do not want an anatomical answer to your question. I assume that you wish to know what the relation of bodily ills is to mental states. This is very close: the mind always affects the body, whether there is organic or functional disease present, and emotional states or habits of thought can at times create symptoms which often imitate organic disease.

Road to Romance
LOIS EBY and JOHN C. FLEMING
CHAPTER FIFTY-FIVE
JOHN DANVER gave orders to pass Bruce Martin and Mary's room-mate and friend onto the plant grounds. He was busy—the atmosphere in the F. B. I. offices was tense as a cracked whip—but not too busy to see them. He would be criticized for allowing Bruce Martin entrance on this night of all nights. But Bruce Martin had said, "I've got to see you now!" And he believed him. He believed him most of the time in the face of contrary evidence.
He dismissed the reporting officer with last instructions. They had checked over the preparations. Every precaution had been taken to avert serious damage to the plant while waiting to allow every inside agent to function and thus reveal himself. He wondered if his ruse had fooled the local sabotage chief. He wished he had transferred Joe Banks into transportation a week or so ago. Might have looked less planted than this abrupt shift on the eve of the shipment. Banks had turned in the report all right—but how much weight did it carry with the leader?
And then Bruce, Fran and Burke came in. Bruce said, "Danver, there'll be an attempt to sabotage Nordex tonight."
Danver swayed back in his swivel chair as though struck. It was the answer to his questions. Then he swung forward to fix Bruce with a hard glance. "What makes you think that?"
Bruce gave a dry chuckle. "That's sticking my neck out, isn't it? Well, I have been guilty and didn't know it. I'll tell you all about it later. All you need to know now is this—I haven't gone to Cro's often with Miss Vaughn. But every time I have gone—there's been sabotage here at Nordex. The last time I was supposed to go, I refused at the eleventh hour, and came over and took up that plane without orders."
Danver admitted sharply. "Everything WAS set for sabotage that night."
"You see," cried Bruce. "Tonight I was to go to Cro's. I'm sure of it now. The plan fell through. But it was announced over the air that I was there."
"And you think it's a signal of some kind?"
"Don't you?"
"I do."
"Well, then—" Bruce leaned across Danver's desk urgently. "Can't you warn your men? Do something?"
Danver smiled. "They're out there, on their toes, itching for action. You see, we sent the invitation to this party. I'm glad to hear proof it's been accepted."
Ken, Fran and Burke gasped. But Bruce asked tensely, "Mary helped send it?"
Danver nodded, anxiety clouding his smile. "And I'm afraid she didn't stop when I told her to. That she went on with Joe Banks to the gang's meeting place."
"Where is it?" cried Bruce.
"In the Hollywood hills," Danver told him. "But a squad car was on its way there as soon as the address was traced. It ought to all be over by now. I'm waiting for the call. That's the hardest part." He turned to the three beside Bruce, and Bruce made rapid introductions.
"Look, there must be something we can do," Bruce cried irritably. "Maybe they didn't find the hide-out. I'm going to go over there! Give me the address!"
"They know the house all right," said Danver with a steely gleam in his eye. "It belongs to Toinette Vaughn." As Bruce stared at him, he added quietly, "And if I were you, Bruce, when things start popping around here, I'd keep out of sight. The boys may be a little uncertain of what team you're on."
It was at this moment the scream of the fire alarm sounded—shot through the straining nerves of the five in the F. B. I. office like a high explosive! Danver, who had moved to the door with Bruce, turned and raced back to his phones. Almost instantly one of them rang.
"You got the man that turned it in? Good. Start for the hangar!" He dropped the receiver on its cradle. "False alarm," he snapped to the four hanging over his desk, and picking up the next ringing phone. "False alarm," he repeated into the phone. "May be the only sideshow. Divide the boys as we planned—send the crew to the hangars!"
Bruce wheeled about and ran for the door.
"Where are you going?" Danver shouted.
"To the hangars!" yelled Bruce without turning. Ken and Burke followed him. As they rounded a corner of the cafeteria they were thrown against each other with violent impact as a flashing concussion shook the building. A burst of flames showed through the windows.
"Hi! There's another sideshow!" whistled Ken.
The scream of the fire engine followed them as they ran on. They reached the hangar, looming large and dark, by the testing field. As they neared the door they could hear the shouts of F. B. I. men—then the bark of guns!
Ken stopped at the door, breathing hard, but still thinking. "No sense in our going in there," he panted.
Bruce grabbed a phone—gave a Malibu number. Danver frowned keenly at him as he got his connection. "Pete? This is Bruce Martin. If Link comes by for his boat tonight, keep him there until we get there—if you have to use force. What?" After a minute, he put the receiver back and returned Danver's frown somberly. "Mr. Jackson took a lady out in the boat half an hour ago. They headed down the coast—south."

Woman's Place NOT in the Home Here
By WILLIAM F. BONI
(Wide World News Service)
LOS ANGELES—A few weeks in this bustling war industry area and you decide that, if woman's place still is in the home, she certainly isn't spending much time there these days.
At more and more corner filling stations you find signs reading "victory girls on duty" and then see two or three grinning girls in coveralls clambering all over a grease job.
On street cars you see young women and older ones, in shirts and slacks, wearing the identification buttons of plane plants or other war factories.
In Los Angeles the nerve center of the Army Air Forces' air raid warning system is staffed almost entirely by women, almost all of them volunteers.
Most of all, of course, you notice women in the aircraft plants, where they are spreading out into every department. Once, when they were an experiment, the women were used only on light, delicate jobs—assembling small parts, doing intricate wiring. Now you'll find them handling rivet guns, wearing welders' masks, using paint sprays, and even helping to operate huge hydraulic presses.
Vultee, which proudly proclaims that 15 of its original 20 women plant workers still are on the job (the other five left to get married) offers a good example of the type of woman who goes into war work—or, rather, offers thorough proof that you can't type the woman who goes into war work.
One of the first to start with was Mrs. Blanche Patton, an aluminum welder who is working her way through her second war. She learned the profession in her teens, during the first World War, when among other things she welded a battleship crow's nest; stuck at it for 11 years; is qualified to work cast iron and steel as well as aluminum, which not all men can say, and went back to her trade in time to become the first woman welder to be employed by a U. S. aircraft manufacturer.
She rates as an A-1 journeyman welder. No man ever has topped her average at putting together the aluminum oil tanks which go into the basic trainers which Vultee makes.
An entirely different type is Dorothy Sellers. Originally from Appleton Wis., she came to California four years ago after dancing in nightclubs and modelling in style shows in Chicago. She worked successively as a car hop, cosmetics demonstrator in a shop on Hollywood Boulevard night-club entertainer in San Francisco, and showgirl in Billy Rose's aquasade there before coming to Vultee.
For the most part women are being used now in jobs that will

Baptist Young People Guests Sunday Night

Members of the Baptist Young People's Fellowship were guests on Sunday evening of the members of the Junior and Senior Endeavors of the Church of Christ for a prayer service, the evening church service and a social hour. The affair was a return favor to the Baptist young people for a party held earlier in the year when they entertained members of the Senior C. E.

The Endeavor meeting centered around the topic of "Prayer" and was carried out with special talks, a vocal solo by Jean Spencer and a welcome to the Baptist young people by the society's president, Mr. Kenneth Bennett. Leaders of the evening were Miss Mary Jenkins and Miss Christine Switzer.

Rev. Byron Carver used as the topic of his sermon for the evening worship service, "The Spirit of Youth." It was an inspiring message to all youth and well received by both the young people and adults.

Following the service the groups were invited to the church basement where a merry round of games was promoted by the committee in charge, Miss Patty Cabbage, chairman, Miss Mary Lois Grimm and Mr. Coyt Stookey.

Most tempting refreshments were served later in the evening with the 49 guests seated at tables arranged in a C for "Christ." Brown and amber streamers of crepe paper ran the length of each table, which were centered with bright colored candles in crystal holders. Tiny candles in the shape of turkeys and clever favors on which was printed the two words, "Be Thankful" added to the clever Thanksgiving decorations.

Informal visiting and the singing of choruses was enjoyed, the pleasurable evening ending with a Friendship Circle.

Mrs. Leo Cox and Mrs. Harriett Jenkins assisted in the hostesses for the affair.

Miss Mildred K. Reser Is Lovely November Bride of Ensign Paul G. Metzger

A wedding solemnized in New Orleans Louisiana on Thursday, November 19th, is attracting the interest and felicitations of friends and relatives here as Miss Mildred Kathryn Reser, second daughter of Mrs. Lena Reser, became the bride of Ensign Paul G. Metzger, son of Mrs. George Metzger, 1083 Reinhard Avenue, Columbus.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Gentilly Methodist Church at half past seven o'clock, with Reverend C. Reginald Hardy officiating. Ensign and Mrs. George Baylis were the attendants.

For her marriage the very lovely bride wore a becoming suit of blue wool with a collar of wolf. With this she combined fuchsia accessories in her hat, gloves, shoes, and purse. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of red roses.

The marriage takes from the city, one of its fairest young girls, as Mrs. Metzger is gifted in beauty as well as personality. After completing her education in Washington High School, she has been employed in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Ensign Metzger has a wide acquaintance of friends in this city and county, made while he was an instructor in the Bloomingburg High School. He was educated in Capital University and Ohio State University, in Columbus. He was also a member of the faculty of Manhasset, New York High School and is now an instructor in the U. S. Naval Reserve Base in the ground school.

The young couple are establishing their home at 6611 Louis XIV Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

LARGE OFFENSE LAUNCHED AS ALLIES CLOSE IN ON AXIS IN NORTH AFRICA

a fight to retain their dominance of the Sicilian Straits.

"Allied forces have launched an attack against enemy armored forces entrenched around the towns of Tunis and Bizerte," said the Morocco radio announcement this morning.

"The main Allied forces are being actively brought up to the front to attack the whole of the Axis occupied positions. The first prisoners have been brought back to the rear."

French reports told of attempted Axis infiltrations in South Tunisia and other reports from Allied headquarters in North Africa said similar tactics were being attempted from the north, where the main Axis forces have been landed by sea and air.

These suggested that Rommel, who more than once has foiled Allied strategems to trap him, was attempting a flank attack from Tripolitania against the British and American forces converging on the northern tip of Tunisia.

If Rommel has split his forces, it was presumed here that he had dispatched some armored units from Tripoli, either overland or by sea, to Gabes or Sfax on the East Tunisian coast.

Both lie south and southeast of the routes of the main Allied forces driving eastward from Algeria, but pro-Allied French forces have been reported in control along most of the coast, and, according to French North African broadcasts some British and American forces had joined these French Allies.

A North African broadcast, purporting to quote a pro-Allied communiqué, said German infiltration units had been thrown out of the oasis of Gafsa west of Gabes, but other infiltrations were being attempted as far north as Kairouan, 75 miles south of Tunis.

The Berlin radio, in a consoling tone, thus referred to Rommel: "With Tunisia, Rommel has exchanged a useless strip of desert for a battlezone akin to European conditions. Nothing proves more clearly Rommel's strategic genius than this move, carried out as soon as he realized the enemy's intentions."

"In this way the balance has shifted from East to West. Rommel's African Corps now has taken up positions prepared beforehand."

A communique from Cairo said his forces in Libya were pushed back farther yesterday toward the Al Agheila bottleneck, the last good place for a stand short of Tripoli.

While Axis announcements indicated that Algiers and Allied forces there were under frequent air attack, Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters and Cairo headquarters showed that the Axis bases at Tripoli, Tunis and Bizerte were being heavily pounded by American four-motored bombers, Allied medium bombers and twinengined fighters attacking from both the East and West.

U. S. Flying Fortresses and twin-motored Lockheed P-38 fighters of Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's command blasted hangars and warehouses of the German-occupied airfield at Tunis Saturday and destroyed nine planes.

The bombers accounted for three Messerschmitts. In action for the first time against the Germans, the Lockheeds shot down one and drove off the remainder. Field observers took this performance as an indication that they are equal to the best in the Nazi air force.

Heavy damage was declared inflicted on a Nazi armored column by one of the British advance detachments pushing along the north coast of Tunisia toward Bizerte. A headquarters spokesman said clashes in that area are "growing heavier."

In Libya, the British Eighth Army's mobile formations wheeled around the shore of the Gulf of Sirte between Agedabia and El Agheila in the effort to complete their job of annihilation of Rommel's men.

North African observers expressed belief that the Germans had established strong defensive positions around Tunis and Bizerte, backed up by mine fields.

pected air attacks from Malta and in the near future, from Tunisia. "Anti-paratroop exercises are being rehearsed in the interior and a special roundup is being made of persons with 'dangerous thoughts' and who under stress of invasion, might prove useful to the enemy."

"All small craft have been requisitioned for 'emergencies' which presumably include the possibility of having to evacuate Sicily."

Reuters, British News Agency, distributed another dispatch from the Turkish capital quoting recent arrivals from Italy as saying a movement for a separate peace had been started under leadership of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Mussolini's "unofficial opponent."

The Reuters account said an anti-Fascist group headed by Badoglio, the conqueror of Ethiopia, approached the Vatican to mediate, with the full knowledge of King Vittorio Emanuele, Crown Prince Umberto and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Il Duce's son-in-law and foreign minister. The British News Agency went on to say that Mussolini quarreled violently with Ciano.

Added to today's list of unconfirmed reports was one by Tass under a Geneva dateline and broadcast by the Moscow radio quoting "A well-informed source" saying that Heinrich Himmler, head of Nazi police forces, was speeding up organization of black-shirt SS units to put down revolt in conquered countries.

Local militarized organizations, such as the Hlinka Guards in Slovakia, will be merged into SS troop units, Tass said, and these would be placed at the disposal of a so-called "European police center."

"According to reports available," the News Agency continued, "these units will be stationed not in countries where they are being formed but in other countries." This, Tass said, would be done to prevent "personal connections between SS troops and the population, thereby strengthening the fighting quality of the SS troops during mass international outbreaks."

SUPPLEMENTAL REGISTRATION ON IN EARNEST

Check on Basic A Books Is Not Yet Completed for Fayette County

The registration for supplemental gasoline rationing today were on in earnest in Fayette County while at the office of the Rationing Board in the Court House, clerks were still checking up on the registration for the basic A books which was completed last Friday.

The high school auditorium in Washington C. H. suddenly became the center of interest and gathering place for automobile owners who felt they were entitled to more gasoline than the four gallons a week provided by the A books. Although the supplemental registration opened there Saturday, the real job did not begin until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. From then until Thanksgiving Day, the parade was expected to be more or less continuous. The hours set for the registration are 2 until 5 P. M. and 6 until 9 P. M. each of the three days. Volunteers are being counted on to carry on the work.

The Lions Club, which meets regularly each Tuesday evening for supper at the Country Club, cancelled that meeting and the club members gathered at the high school gymnasium instead to help with the registration. Most of the volunteers have been given a schedule of duty to suit their personal convenience. There were several women among the volunteer registrars.

While the count of basic registrations has not been completed, it was said at the Rationing Board that there were indications that there were fewer A books issued than the estimated number of cars in the county.

The supplemental registration is to continue until the end of the month, but both the Rationing Board and the volunteer workers were hopeful of completing the bulk of the work by Wednesday so the last three days could be devoted to what was described as "mopping up" the details and loose ends.

coastal town of Buna, and the main landing field at the outskirts of Buna.

Other Australian forces were closing in on Gona, 12 miles up the coast.

The sinking of the Japanese destroyer off the coast balanced the news from the Navy Department that an additional U. S. destroyer had been lost in the Nov. 13-15 battle of the Solomons. The name of the destroyer was not disclosed. It sank the night of November 16 from torpedo damage suffered during the sea fight the night before.

The latest communique gave no further details of the land fighting on Guadalcanal Island since the Saturday announcement that American troops had advanced a mile beyond their previous positions along the Matanikau River.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(P)—Reversing Saturday's advance, rye today led a general grain price retreat with losses amounting to more than a cent a bushel at times.

Brokers blamed the market's reaction on selling inspired partly by weakness of cotton and securities, liquidation of December contracts and lagging flour and cash grain demand. Some dealers thought peace talk from Rome may have unsettled the markets.

Engineers Now Surveying Route of Oil Pipeline

WORK STARTED SUNDAY AND IS TO BE PUSHED

Right-of-way Men Will Be Busy on Job Within Short Time

Engineers under the direction of James Litchwald are now at work in Fayette County, surveying the route of the 24 inch oil line that is government sponsored and is being pushed across the nation from Longview, Texas, to the Atlantic seaboard.

Arriving here over the weekend, Litchwald put his surveying crew at work Sunday, and will push the work westward as rapidly as possible, until it is united with surveys being pushed eastward from Illinois, to which point the big oil line is now 90 percent complete.

Official announcement has been made that the pipeline, which will carry 300,000 barrels of crude oil daily, instead of gasoline, will pass across Fayette County on nearly a straight line, and will be laid just north of Plymouth thence across the county to the north corporation line of Bloomingburg, and cross Deer Creek just north of Hancockburg.

Westward it passes through Port William, Harveysburg, Red Lion, south of Middletown and through Seven Mile, into Indiana.

Eastward it passes into Pickaway County, extends two miles south of Ashville, through Hooker, two or three miles north of Lancaster, and thence to Crooksville, north of Caldwell and leaves Ohio at Powhatan point.

The line then extends eastward past Uniontown, to Phoenixville, Pa., where one branch extends to Bayonne, New Jersey, and New York City, and the other to Philadelphia.

Lockwood, Kessler and Bartlett are contractors for the pipe line through this community.

Its total length, according to one of the advance agents who was in the Record-Herald Office Saturday afternoon, will be 1383 miles and 550 miles of the line has been finished.

E. L. Bush has been retained by the contractors to look after their legal business in this county.

The pipe line, the object of which is to furnish gasoline to eastern states in addition to what is shipped by tank cars, will be ready for use under present plans, by January 1, 1944.

Work on the line through this county is to start within the next 60 days, according to the company's representatives.

Pipe is being unloaded at Mt. Sterling, Bloomingburg and other points, and plans are being made to unload a large quantity in this city and Milledgeville, the latter place being one of the main centers of distribution in this part of the State.

Huge ditchers will cut the trench, and when the ground is frozen, flame throwers will proceed the ditchers and thaw the ground, so that work may proceed in all kinds of weather.

Land owners will be paid for the right-of-way and it will be possible to farm over the line soon after it is laid.

In crossing streams the pipe is laid below the waterline, and in case of hills and mountains the line will extend directly over them, instead of endeavoring to follow the valleys, it is announced by representatives of the contracting firm.

No pronounced curves will be permitted in the line, but where it is necessary, it will turn aside on an easy curve to avoid cemeteries and farm homes, it is stated.

Numerous pumping stations will be built along the line to keep the fluid moving as rapidly as possible, but definite announcement has not been made as to where these stations will be located.

STOLEN CAR IS BADLY WRECKED AT SHARP TURN

Four Occupants in the Car Are Injured Severely But Escape

Two boys and two girls who were in an automobile that had been stolen from Vida Showalter Saturday night, are believed to have sustained severe cuts and bruises and possibly other injuries when the car failed to make a sharp turn a mile west of the Wilson School House at the McCoy farm and crashed into a concrete post sometime after midnight.

The car was completely wrecked and the occupants left the scene hurriedly before nearby residents could arrive.

Blood was scattered about the wrecked car, indicating that at least one or more of the occupants must have been badly injured.

Officers were called to investigate and were continuing the investigation Monday.

COFFEE SALES ARE SUSPENDED FOR ONE WEEK

Stocks Are Depleted During Last Days Before Rationing

The lid has been clamped tight on the coffee pot for all of this week, and during that time no retail dealer is allowed to sell any coffee, while preparations are being made to start rationing as of midnight, November 28.

No coffee was sold by dealers here after Saturday midnight, but during the latter part of the week they sold coffee much more liberally than at any time during the past few months—if they had it to sell.

Many of them sold it in half pound packages, while others sold one pound to a customer.

Most of the coffee substitutes have been exhausted in many of the stores.

The "freezing" of coffee is for the purpose of giving grocers an opportunity to replenish their depleted coffee stocks and have an accurate check on what they have on hands. Grocers who sell coffee this week will be violating the law.

Starting Nov. 28, stamp No. 27 in the sugar ration book will be good for one pound of coffee per person any time between that date and Jan. 2. Each subsequently authorized stamp will be good for one pound of coffee every five weeks thereafter.

How do you buy your coffee? It's simple, just as easy as purchasing sugar. Take the sugar ration book to the store. Ask for your coffee and the grocer will detach the proper stamp. But the grocer must see the book. Buyers are not limited to only one pound of coffee; they may purchase as many pounds at a time as a family has stamps for during the specified period. However, it is urged that for the present, the public buy coffee as it is needed and not stock up, because of the wartime problems of production and transportation.

OPA has stated that a registration, to be conducted later when universal ration books are issued, will take care of coffee hoarders. Therefore, officials advised that consumers use their present stocks before obtaining more coffee.

Coffee rationing applies only to supplies for home use. Restaurants and other institutions are authorized to apply to rationing boards for certificates enabling them to purchase amounts of coffee which will permit service on a rationed basis. And don't ask for the second cup in restaurants, or for a courtesy "warm-up." It isn't possible, restaurant owners say, as their supply is rationed.

Coffee rationing is not, government authorities point out, a restrictive measure. It is primarily a guarantee that every person will be permitted to buy as much as his neighbor. As the problem of supply and demand becomes adjusted through rationing, the public may be allowed to purchase more coffee. There are three causes for coffee rationing, all under the heading of shipping shortage.

Ships that formerly brought coffee from Brazil, Colombia and other South American countries, are now carrying munitions and supplies to our Allies.

Many ships in the South American trade have been sunk by U-boats. Other ships, which formerly carried coffee to United States ports, are now carrying cargo for the American armed forces and the munitions of war, like Bauxite, nitrates, copper, and other vital supplies produced in South America.
